Heard NA4G's chowpy-chowpit CQ and then CL last night just as I turned in for bed, 0600Z. What rig were you using, Bob? If that was Henrietta, maybe I should give the AT-1 another go at it and maybe we can hear each other after all!

In other news, K1JJ has been running a QRP-AM net for the past two weeks. Sundays at 2000Z on 3885. Lots of talk about Hartleys and plate-modulated 6AQ5s, etc. Sounds like great fun but with my lousy antenna I doubt they'd hear me in the next county at a watt. Anyway, give a listen if you're near the Northeast. It sounds like a lot of people are excited about this. I emailed Tom and he promised to forward the info, which I will pass along to Glowbugs when it gets here.
